

Title: Webinar on foreign language learning and teaching in the digital age

On September the 23rd from 9:30 to 11:30 the partners behind the new Erasmus+ project DIGI-LINGO: Enhancing digital language teaching and virtual exchange will host a webinar about the use and future of virtual and digital language teaching.

The final programme will be announced in September, but it is confirmed that the renowned researcher Robert O'Dowd will take part and do a presentation on his research into virtual exchanges. By attending this webinar, participants will get insights into the latest knowledge and research on digital language learning. The webinar is destined particularly to language teachers, trainers, language professionals and others interested in the field of foreign language learning.

You may register for the event through this link: <https://rm.plan2learn.dk/KursusValg.aspx?id=92879>. You can select English by selecting the icon of the Danish flag in the upper right corner. The programme will be announced on this page as well. You will receive the programme and the Teams link to the webinar via e-mail at a later point.

In case of questions, you may contact the organiser at: digi-lingo@ru.rm.dk

Central Denmark EU Office
Design & Creativity
Science & Education for Society