

Title: NEMO - New Mobility Design Conference

After several NEMO Conferences in Stuttgart, Germany, and two editions in California, the Brussels conference aims at bringing together creative community with the mobility industry and policy makers active in the development of future urban infrastructure in Europe. How will we move within cities and regions in the future? Which transportation methods are needed to design urban mobility? How will they not only follow technical criteria but build on the urban culture and life style as well as topographic conditions of regions? The design of user and environmentally friendly mobility presents many opportunities for the creative industries. International experts from both the design and mobility industries will discuss possible solutions. Registration for the event is possible here. The event is organised by the ERRIN Member Stuttgart Region. Partners of the event are: IBA 2027, ERRIN, Architektenkammer Baden-Wuerttemberg and Baden-Wuerttemberg.
