

Title: Regions and Cities: Vital for Europe's recovery

This Saturday, 9th May, is Europe Day, when the Committee of the Regions would usually open its doors to the public. This year the event will take place online with a focus on the role of regions and cities in Europe's recovery from the coronavirus crisis.

The virtual event will be made up of three sessions:

- Recovering from Coronavirus, the future of EU cohesion policy and the new proposal for the EU budget 2021-2027
- Regions and cities at work for a resilient and sustainable recovery
- EU democracy – future of Europe.

The web-conference will be live-streamed, for news of how to access it please check this link, see the attached agenda for the list of speakers.
