

Title: Universities and the European Innovation Council

The European Universities Association is running a webinar on universities and the European Innovation Council (EIC). The session will explain the purpose of the EIC and give participants a chance to learn more about how university-based projects can benefit from EIC support.

The webinar will also explore how the EIC can be used as an instrument for mobilising funding, research and innovation in Europe.

To learn more about the speakers and to register, click here.

Science & Education for Society