

Title: Digital Transport Days

The third edition of Digital Transport Days will take place virtually on 18 November. This year's event will be an occasion to better understand what role digitalisation plays in increasing resilience against the current and future pandemics.

Thematic sessions during the event will cover the following topics:

- Developing a common European mobility data space and its interaction with other data spaces
- Making Europe's transport infrastructure fit for the future: digitalisation in the framework of the Trans-European Transport Network (TEN-T) revision
- Smart mobility and the European Green Deal.
