

Title: Innovative housing fairs based on the three pillars of New European Bauhaus

Sweden Innovation Days is a four-day free global digital event between 17-20 January 2022. Swedish companies and organizations will exchange ideas and network with international actors on a global stage. The conference will bring together actors from around the world to share best practices and experiences with the aim of creating collaborations with a focus on UN's Global Goals and Agenda 2030.

Smart Housing Småland will have a Live Event with the topic of Innovative housing fairs based on the three pillars of New European Bauhaus.

The innovation cluster Smart Housing Småland is forming a housing fair apparatus based on innovation and the pillars of New European Bauhaus: Together, Beautiful, Sustainable. Rural areas and smaller towns are especially interesting. Region Kronoberg and Växjö municipality describe their views, challenges, and possibilities when setting up the first planned housing fair BY2030. A panel (Niklas Andersson at Sizes, Linda Camara at Tengbom Architects, Ann-Charlotte Larsson, at Linné University) reflects live about the plans and the future in delivering housing on the themes Together, Beautiful, Sustainable.

Sweden Innovation Days will be Sweden's largest global digital innovation event and has an important role to play in fostering international collaboration.

The four days are filled with about 100 program points so there is something for everyone. Each day will have a key thematic focus and you can read about them here
